PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION:

This Vernacular building with Victorian features is a 2 story, brick clad residence with a front-end gable, hipped slate roof. The foundation is cut stone. The window openings are segmented arch, yet the windows are regular 1x1 sash. The two bay wide building also has a brick, bay window with an octagonal shed roof. (This roof is all that remains of a porch roof that once occupied the entire front of the house and wrapped 2/3 of the way around the western side. (The porch, now roofless, continues to occupy wrap around this area.) A small gabled hood protects the front door entrance. The door also occupies a space under a segmental arch and flat transom. A corbelled brick chimney is located on the southern or rear end of the house. Also on the rear of the house is a single story, shed addition with German siding.

Classification: This rather unique building is Class II.
