Comment:

- As you know, the Planning Commission typically remains neutral on ZHB Applications but will frequently generate comments to be considered by the Zoning Hearing Board.

In this instance a discussion of impacts on the neighborhood such as the ability to accommodate parking in a safe manner and traffic impacts would be typical items to be explored. In addition, if there are any particular activities outside the dwelling then perhaps providing fencing or landscape buffers could be considered.

With regard to the Proposed Use, it should be remembered that the Federal Fair Housing Act and the recent case law may have established parameters to be considered by a municipality relative to the inclusion of occupancy arrangements that meet the test of "functional family equivalent" in a noncommercial environment. The question for the subject appeal is whether or not a proposal for "a sober house for nine unrelated individuals" falls within the protected class of individuals who should be considered as a family for purposes of zoning. This particular matter will be considered by the Zoning Hearing Board.

4. Review pertinent planning issues.
