

Appendix A

An aerial photograph showing a large, rectangular fenced-in area, likely a sports field or training ground. The area is divided into two main sections by a central corridor. The left section contains a small building and a parking lot with several vehicles. The right section is mostly open grass. The entire area is surrounded by a fence. A white text box with the label "Project Area" is centered over the right section. The image is a screenshot from Google Earth, as indicated by the logo in the bottom right corner.
