PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION:

This house, c. 1800, consists of a core with older addition, creating an el-shape, plus a shed roof addition within the el. The vernacular house with Federal-style influences consists of a three-story core with two-story addition, both with stucco-clad stonewalls. The building measures 30' by 42'. The main façade is a three-bay window arrangement with the main entrance in the center. A simple gabled hood projects over the entrance; evidence of a pent roof or porch is evident in the stucco between the first and second floors. Fenestration is 6x6 sash with smaller 3x3 windows on the third floor. There are two stucco-covered, flush chimneys on either end of the house and an end gabled, asphalt shingled roofed.

Associated Resources: (Barn) There are several buildings on this property. The barn measures 40'x30'. It is a two-story stone barn with an end gabled, asphalt-shingled roof. There is a shed-roofed addition on the east end. The barn has thick stonewalls on the gabled ends with a framed south wall.

Classification: The house, along with barn and property, should be considered Class II due to alterations.
